Upbeat and enthusiastic, Jodi has a love for travel and the St. Louis Cardinals! She comes from a long line of passionate educators and has been a devoted high school English and journalism teacher for over 13 years. Jodi is a team player and brings a collaborative approach that prioritizes her students' success. It's no wonder she used to work for the St. Louis Rams and played NCAA women's college soccer! In addition to her role at BLUBERYL, Jodi enjoys training for marathons, trying new foods, and traveling the world.

Jodi holds a bachelor of arts degree in communications and a master's degree in education. When she takes her BLUBERYL headset off, you might find her re-reading her latest favorite book or hiking with one of her dogs.
